PUBLIC ROADS

EXPENSE SHOULD BE DIVIDED

Railroads Should Share With Farmer Cost of Gravel and Proper Maintenance of Roads.

DR. HOWARD H. CRISSEY.
In a large sense the building of a road should be a local matter; that is, the community should have and roads forced upon them, and the building of the roads should be borne by the community. The road is a public utility, and the people of the community should be made to feel that it is their duty to contribute to its maintenance. The road is a public utility, and the people of the community should be made to feel that it is their duty to contribute to its maintenance.

It is a well known fact that the road is a public utility, and the people of the community should be made to feel that it is their duty to contribute to its maintenance. The road is a public utility, and the people of the community should be made to feel that it is their duty to contribute to its maintenance.

A Sandy Road After Grading Before Improvement With Gravel. Stone in Town of Deaton, Seak County, Missouri.

It is a well known fact that the road is a public utility, and the people of the community should be made to feel that it is their duty to contribute to its maintenance. The road is a public utility, and the people of the community should be made to feel that it is their duty to contribute to its maintenance.

Investigation shows that at least four-fifths of the traffic on the highways passes over about one-fourth of the road mileage; that certain roads have heavy traffic. These are the ones that need the first attention and should be permanently improved. We find the same thing in our railway systems. Take the trunk lines. Here is a great city where trains are moving every thirty minutes, and with an enormous traffic and wear. These roads must have heavy rails, well ballasted and carefully maintained, while a pioneer road has a single track with light rails and ballast—it is the only one possible to build for the small traffic that will at first come to it, but as the traffic increases so the physical condition of the road is correspondingly improved to meet the requirements. The highway in the central west does not meet the needs of the people, but the people do not always realize this. We are too busy to get along with what we have, without looking to getting something better. One of the surprising things about this whole road movement is that one state will have a large amount of gravel roads and the adjoining one a few. If any, Indiana and Illinois are notable instances of this. Nearly 40 per cent of the "Hoosier" highways are improved and most of these are gravel roads, while in Illinois the percentage is seven or eight per cent. Can anyone imagine a person why the people of Indiana can afford gravel roads, while their neighbors in Illinois cannot? This is an absurd situation.

DAIRY

HEAVILY TINED MILK PAILS

All Crevices and Seams Should Be Flushed With Soap and Water. Solder—Use No Wood.

The best milk pail is one that is constructed so that it will keep the milk clean and free from all impurities. The pail should be made of a material that is easy to clean and that will not absorb any of the milk. The pail should be made of a material that is easy to clean and that will not absorb any of the milk.

All milk pails should be heavily tined and all crevices and seams should be flushed with soap and water. The pail should be made of a material that is easy to clean and that will not absorb any of the milk.

Note How Seams and Crevices of This Can Be Flushed Full of Solder.

It is almost impossible to keep milk sweet and clean. For this reason they should have no place in the dairy. To thoroughly clean milk pails, they should be flushed with cold water to remove all particles of milk. Then they should be scrubbed with a brush in warm water, after which they should be steamed or at least rinsed in boiling water. No wiping cloth should be used. Sunlight is one of the best disinfectants and when possible all pails should be given the benefit of good sunlight and pure air.

GOOD LIGHT FOR DAIRY BARN

Considering Results Secured From Putting in Windows, Expense Is Small—Provides Fresh Air.

It has been learned by the experience of experts in dairies all over the country that every cow should have four square feet of light and that the windows should be arranged to allow an even distribution of light throughout the barn. Considering the results, the expense of putting in windows is small. The increase in cost in a dairy barn 30 or 40 feet long is from $20 to $25. The system of ventilation commonly used consists of two sets of flues. The inlets or fresh air flues should be near the roof and not more than ten feet apart. The greater the number the more effective the ventilation, since they enable the fresh air to displace the foul air more rapidly. The outlets should be placed to provide the quickest escape for the foul air.

DAIRY NOTES

A good milk cow never becomes rolling fat.

Raise and keep all heifer calves from the best cows.

It ought to hurt any man's conscience to sell dirty milk.

Milk suffers contamination more quickly than any other food.

Treat the cows kindly and they will repay you in dollars and cents.

The man with plenty of alfalfa is not worrying about him at $25 a ton.

Dairying builds up the soil for the reason that it takes little of its substance.

The owner of a head milk cow cannot afford to sell her at twice best prices.

One way to be sure of a good dairy herd is to raise it yourself and know what you've got.

None of the new fangled churns have yet put the old-fashioned barrel churn on the shelf.

The sire is more than half the herd. Be sure that the sire heading your herd will transmit dairy characteristics.

FARM STOCK

PROPER ATTENTION TO EWES

Severe Losses Result From Attempting to Handle Early Lambs Without Accommodations.

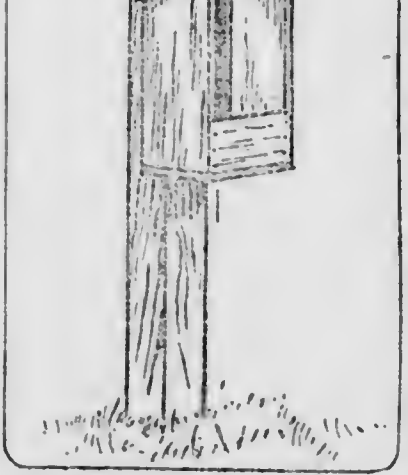

The flock owner who breeds his ewes to lamb during the late winter and early spring months should provide favorable conditions at the right time. Severe losses result from attempting to handle early lambs without having adequate accommodations to provide comfort for the flock.

When the ewe is about to lamb, she should be moved to a clean, dry, and comfortable place. The ewe should be handled with care and the lamb should be kept warm and dry.

Methods of Salting Stock

The practice of salting stock periodically on the ground is recommended. It takes too much time if done often enough. It wastes salt and the way it is done, usually, the stock does not get enough salt.

Handy Salt Box.

It is a well known fact that the horse is a public utility, and the people of the community should be made to feel that it is their duty to contribute to its maintenance. The horse is a public utility, and the people of the community should be made to feel that it is their duty to contribute to its maintenance.

CARE OF HORSES AND MULES

Feed Mares Generously and Don't Overwork Them—Active Whiplash and Abuse Are Injurious.

Go easy with the work mares when they are breeding a young colt, horse doing double duty. This is exhaustive and depleting. Feed the mares generously and don't overwork them. See that the blood man attends to his team properly. Remember your work horses are doing all in their power to help you in the business of the year.

A horse that is overworked and overfed will be a poor performer. The horse should be kept in good condition and not overworked.

Always let the mare cool off before she milks her colt—otherwise a possible attack of indigestion for the youngster.

Draft Horses for Teams. The draft horse does the work on the farm the most satisfactorily and with less expense and worry; still, higher and more rapidly; costs less to get him ready for market; and costs less time and labor to train him.

High-Class Protein Feed. An acre of alfalfa will furnish more high-class protein feed than almost any other crop that is grown in the section where dairying is followed to the best advantage.

We have found it desirable to keep ewes in a separate pen for a few days before lambing and after lambing. This pen should be clean and comfortable and should be kept at a constant temperature.

EASY WAY TO LIFT BARRELS

Simple Device Shown in Illustration Hereafter Will Be Found to Be Quite Convenient.

Where many barrels have to be lifted the following simple device will prove of great value. It is a simple device that can be made at home and is quite convenient.

Lifting Barrel.

the barrel. At the lower end of the handle is a wooden cross piece held on the inner side so as to fit the curvature of the barrel. If very heavy barrels are to be lifted the handle should be from six to twelve inches longer, so as to get extra leverage when lifting.

COLD FRAMES MORE POPULAR

Great Many Gardeners Have Realized It Is Profitable to Grow Some Vegetables Under Sash.

Frames are used much more largely in all parts of the country than a few years ago, notwithstanding the fact that greenhouse construction has been more active. A great many gardeners have realized that it pays to grow some vegetables under sash. This makes it a good business proposition and when frames are used on a large scale too much care cannot be exercised in the preparation of the soil. It should be fine, fairly level and contain liberal amounts of sand and humus. If to be used in the summer, the cross-bars should be easily removed so that wheel-hoes or horse cultivators can be used without difficulty, running from end to end of the long frame. The sash should fit snugly on the side boards so that as little cold as possible will be admitted under the sash. Lettuce and radishes are especially desirable for frame culture.

Scabbies in Cattle. The requirements relating to dips for scabbies in cattle have been not less than five hundredths of one per cent. of kerosene and 2 per cent. of caustic soda. Recently this order has been amended, permitting the use of the tobacco dip prepared from tobacco and suitable tobacco products, provided it contains no less than seven hundredths of one per cent. of nicotine. The tobacco dip of the new strength need not contain the sulphur.

Care of Small Fruits. Fruit of small size on berry bushes is not always changeable to poor quality, but is usually due to poor culture and no pruning. Currents are largely borne on wood three or four years old. Wood that is older than this should be cut out and enough young canes allowed to take their place. This may be done any time after the fruit is ripe. Keep the plants well cultivated and fertilized with barnyard manure.

High-Class Protein Feed. An acre of alfalfa will furnish more high-class protein feed than almost any other crop that is grown in the section where dairying is followed to the best advantage.

The parcel post business continues to grow, and especially on the rural routes. In some States the rural route carriers are quitting, as they are swamped, and cannot make the trips, on account of poor roads, and the Postoffice Department is demanding that the roads be put in condition, or the routes will be discontinued. Since the introduction of the parcel post, there has been a heavy increase in the demands for rural routes, but government inspectors are now much more careful, and are turning down a large percentage of the applications, on account of the poor road conditions.

Electric Line all the Talk.

Muhlenberg County is stirred to activity over the proposed electric line, to cover the most densely populated section of the county, running from Central City to the "Bluff" on Green river, and to this place and Drakesboro, taking in the three principal towns in the county and most of the mining communities. People everywhere are favoring the enterprise, and lending hearty support in every way. Engineers are at work locating the line, and it is thought that active construction work will be started soon, and pushed at top speed, the promoters promising to have the road in operation next fall, unless extremely unfavorable conditions arise.

Kentucky is suffering from a wide area of smallpox, but in no section has the disease reached any great proportions.

Several turkey dinners have been given during the cold weather lately.

King Drags in Demand.

County Judge Rice, who at the beginning of the good roads movement was compelled to use his personal influence to induce farmers to take out the King drags supplied by the county, now reports that it is hard to keep a supply of the drags on hand, and that land owners are requesting the drags, under promise to use them without public expense, and the promise is being kept faithfully, even enthusiastically, in most cases. And the movement is just getting thoroughly launched, gaining rapidly in all directions wherever a drag is thoroughly and intelligently used. More than half a hundred King drags are being used in the county now.

With the Central City, Greenville & Drakesboro railroad, "Green River Line," Muhlenberg will be a strong contender for the banner in the matter of railroads in Kentucky.

LINCOLN.

We strive in narrow selfish ways
To win advancement or have praise,
To gain rewards, to hear applause,
To be accounted great or wise;
We make convenience a cause,
And ever feel with watchful eyes
For that approval, right or wrong,
Accorded by the noisy throng;
To them that have the wit to see
Which way the crowds intend to flee,
And bravely pretend to lead,
The God-sent leaders there.

He saw with vision true and clear,
And, crushing doubt and soaring fear,
Advanced, with conscience as his guide,
Discerning where the course was laid,
He waited not for wind or tide,
Nor for the mob's approval staid;
A giant where weak pygmies rose,
To peer and clamor and oppose,
He pressed with godlike earnestness
And on unconquerable soul
Through hellish hate and bloody stress,
To die a martyr at the goal.

We worry over little cares,
We mutter foolish, selfish prayers,
And think that God will deign to heed:
We scheme to keep our brothers back,
We long to dazzle or to lead,
And sigh for riches that we lack;
We covet honors and are proud
To win the favors of the crowd
That for a little while has time
To cheer us where we strut, to let
Us fancy we have grown sublime,
And then is ready to forget.

We read the old appeal that lies
Within his kindly, sunken eyes
And learn a little of his lore;
We mark the lines upon his brow
And dimly see how much he bore,
And in our weakness wonder how
We gaze upon the sculptured face,
And all the patient sorrows trace;
We search for vanity, for pride,
That human-like, he might have claimed,
Then thrust our little cares aside
And turn away, and are ashamed.

The Price She Paid.

"The Price She Paid", the latest sensational dramatized offering of the East, will be seen at the La-Meade Theatre on Feb. 20th, for an engagement of one night. Reports of the play have come from many cities in which it has been presented and without exception the verdict is unanimous that it is one of the greatest, as well as one of the most absorbing shows ever witnessed in this country.

In many plays, the struggle of honest girls has been depicted, and much has been made of the dramatic possibilities that surround a young girl fighting for her virtue. Never before, has the story been so forcibly presented and daringly told.

David Graham Phillips' book, which is familiar to all, does not contain one half the actual thrills that the dramatic offering of the same name can boast of. Scenic, to "The Price She Paid" is a marvelous production, and the fact that the cast has been carefully selected from the ranks of the best players is a guarantee of the exquisite manner in which the story is told.

Protection Against Dogs.

The recent death of a dog from rabies, established by a laboratory test of the dog's head, sent to Bowling Green, has caused the deepest concern here in all quarters, as the affected dog is known to have fought and bitten a number of dogs in town, and no manner of telling how many. All the dogs known to have been bitten were at once killed, and every dog is being closely watched, and on the first manifestation of madness will be killed. Judge T. J. Sparks, as mayor of the city, issued a proclamation ordering all dogs muzzled or confined. This is a wise and necessary measure, and any unmuzzled dog found running at large will be killed by the officers. Dogs should never be allowed to run at large, muzzled or not. We have put up our hogs and cattle, which at most are a nuisance when at large. But dogs are a menace to health and life, are destructive creatures, and a public menace when allowed to roam. There is not a city in the State of the size and progressiveness of Greenville where dogs are allowed at large, and we should get in line on this, as we have on other important things.

A man who has what he declares to be a perfectly good gun states that every dog in town has in some way gotten notice not to be out, as he has been looking for them with the intention of transacting business, but has not been able to find a single canine.

Mr. John Poag, who has been confined to his home for some time, is reported as improving, and will soon be out again, it is hoped by his many friends.

Miss Myrtle Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen, and Mr. Roscoe Poag, of the firm of J. F. Poag & Son, were married last Saturday night. Rev. W. C. Hayes performed the ceremony at his home, a few friends being present.

Miss Evelyn Martin, who was attacked and bitten by the dog which died of the rabies, was carried to Bowling Green for treatment the first of the week, and will remain for three weeks. The doctors express the opinion that there will not be any trouble in overcoming the infection.

Calomel, Calomel, you cannot stay for LIV-VER-LAX has shown us an easier way. Ask G. E. Countzler.

"What do you mean, you lost your dog?" Well, you will, if you turn him out without a muzzle, for the policemen will kill him.

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 10, 1914.
Mr. Otto A. Roherth,
Louisville, Ky.

My dear sir:

I want to commend you for your up-to-date and well arranged historical collections of Muhlenberg county, Kentucky. It surely shall rank as a first class history, and I am of the opinion that there is not another county in Kentucky that can boast of a history as well compiled, revised and complete in detail as your History of Muhlenberg County. I am sure that the people of my old home county feel that they owe to you a debt of great gratitude for your kindness, your labor and your devotion in producing for them such an excellent history of their county, giving in detail its origin, growth and development, narrative of its pioneers and people, of its places, events and occurrences, supplied and adorned with a well arranged pictorial display, with biographies of prominent people thro all of its years. I suppose that every family living in Muhlenberg has or will procure a copy of your history, for it certainly will be a jewel for their libraries and homes. All persons who once lived in Muhlenberg county and have gone to other states, like myself, would no doubt be pleased to have your history. I was born and reared in Muhlenberg county but have been in another state for 35 years. I want to say that I certainly appreciate the history of my native county. I feel proud of the volume that I have, and it is worth to me many times what I paid for it. When I read it my thoughts are carried back to my old Kentucky home in Muhlenberg county where I can commune with people and conditions of other years. I knew many of the people and places that you mention in your history. Since I have read your history I have a desire to visit again my old Muhlenberg home and see the developments and improvements that have taken place since I left it.

I see your book presents a magnificent court house for Muhlenberg county, one hard to surpass in architectural beauty.

Hoping you further success in historical research and achievements, I remain,

Yours truly,

Several dogs have been killed in town the last few days, since a laboratory test showed that one dog known to have bitten others had rabies. If every dog in town were killed it would not balance the loss of one child, but the act would be a good one, and might save several human lives.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

Whereas there has been running at large in the City of Greenville, a dog affected with "Rabies", and whereas it, in all probability, came in contact with other dogs, and whereas it is unsafe to let dogs run at large that have had an opportunity to become infected with this dread disease, it is, in the opinion of the Health officer of the county and the authorities of the city of Greenville, unsafe to the citizens of the City of Greenville to allow dogs to run at large: Now therefore

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Mayor of the City of Greenville I hereby declare that it is unsafe to permit any dog to run at large in the City of Greenville, Ky., and hereby direct that no dog be permitted to run at large in said city unless it is muzzled, and all parties living in Greenville who own or have in their possession any dogs are directed to put them in confinement or provide them with muzzles.

This order shall take effect from this date and remain in force for thirty days, and the Police officers of the city are hereby directed to see that it is enforced.

Given under my hand as Mayor of the City of Greenville, this 10th day of February, 1914.
